A manufacturer of autonomous mobile robotics solutions, Clearpath Robotics is dedicated to automating the world’s dullest, dirtiest, and deadliest jobs. As a company that requires a wide range of talent and expertise – from software development and computer simulation to robotics design and manufacturing – Clearpath appreciates the unique talent and technology ecosystem in Waterloo.

“The ecosystem in Waterloo was perfect for creating the company here. Our first investors and customers were all in the Waterloo Region; and our first employees were graduates of the University of Waterloo. In fact, UW alone is an extremely strong reason why we’re here, because so much talent and innovation related to what we do comes out of there.”

-Cam Davies, Director of Marketing for OTTO Motors (a division of Clearpath Robotics)
